

HOODIA PATCH

How HOODIA PATCH DERMA/loss™ works? This new patch technology has allowed us to create a highly effective way to deliver natural herbal ingredients into the bloodstream. The key ingredients were selected for their appetite suppressing and metabolic enhancing properties and are time-released to provide you with safe, continuous, and effective weight loss. There are no pills, shakes or special diets to follow! You continue to eat regular meals, but you should notice feeling full quicker. The strong appetite suppressor in HOODIA PATCH DERMA/loss™ will enable you to eat less than normal resulting in lower caloric intake. You should start to experience gradual weight loss (up to 3-5 pounds per week!).

Results from clinical study: A recent clinical study was conducted on the patch involving 135 test subjects. The 12-week, double blind, placebo-controlled trial resulted in a significant amount of weight loss among the subjects using this formula. The HOODIA PATCH DERMA/loss™ patch not only works alone, it can be used in conjunction with any other weight loss program to increase your chances of success with other diets.

Ingredients: Hoodia Gordinii: is a leafless, spiky succulent grown naturally in South Africa. There are 46 species of Hoodia and only 2 that contain the appetite suppressant qualities that people seek. Hoodia, is registered as a protected species by the South African Nature Conservation and certain farmers are granted a special permit that allows them to commercially grow and harvest the plant for sale to the consumer market. This plant is now being grown in sustainable quantities and has become widely known for its effects as an appetite suppressant. For many generations the nomadic SAN tribe's people of the region have used the Hoodia Gordonii plant to suppress appetite and thirst during long hunting trips of several days duration. Although there are over 20 species in the Hoodia family only the Hoodia Gordonii plant contains a natural appetite suppressant. It was not possible to patent a naturally growing plant, so the SAN tribes people sold the 'traditional knowledge' rights to develop a drug based on the new molecule contained within Hoodia Gordonii to a UK based firm called Phytopharm

Guarana Extract:(botanical name, Paullinia Cupana), is from the Amazon region of South America. It stimulates and balances your metabolism to help you lose weight, and it recognized as a high-energy source that increases mental alertness and fights fatigue.
